

Born and raised in England, Tom Cowell is a New York-based comedian. Tom has performed at the Edinburgh and Bridgetown Comedy Festivals, the Upright Citizens Brigade, and at clubs and theaters all over London and New York City. He currently works for Comedy Central, writing jokes and promo scripts. Tom has written for VICE, MSN Now, The Daily Telegraph, The Guardian and The Village Voice. He also has a Green Card, which entitles him to live and work freely anywhere in America without health insurance. Tom lives in Greenpoint, Brooklyn.